	3.	There were appreximately 3500 or 4000 students (slushitel1) at the Artillery Academy. The Military Faculty consisted of a three year course, the technical faculties offered four year courses. The Academy mad at least 500 instructors, including the administrative staff. In 1947 or 1948 the Artillery Academy was divided into two institutions. One retained the original name and consisted of the Military Faculty. The other, also in Moscow, must have been formed from the technical faculties of the eld Academy. The new institution was named the Military Academy of Artillery Sciences (Voenniva Akademiya Artilleriskith Wauth)	i
